

WORLD OF WIFE

by Andrew Ross

It was a beautiful day in the city of New York. The sun was shining brightly, and the streets were filled with people. In the heart of the city, a young woman named Sarah was walking towards her home. She was wearing a red dress and carrying a black bag. As she walked, she noticed a man in a blue suit and a white shirt walking towards her. He was looking at her with a serious expression.

"Excuse me," he said, "I'm looking for a woman named Sarah. Do you know where she lives?" Sarah looked at him and shook her head. "I don't know her name," she said. The man looked disappointed and turned away. Sarah continued walking, but she couldn't shake the feeling that she had just met someone important. She thought about the man's serious expression and the way he had looked at her. She decided to go home and check her phone for any messages.

When she got home, she found a message from an unknown number. The message said, "Sarah, I'm calling you from New York. Please call me back as soon as you can. My name is John. I'll give you my number." Sarah was surprised and curious. She called the number and spoke to a man named John. "Hi, Sarah," he said. "I'm John. I'm calling you from New York. I'm looking for a woman named Sarah. Do you know where she lives?" Sarah looked at her phone and saw the name John. She remembered the man she had met on the street. "Yes, I know you," she said. "I met you on the street. What's your name?"
